
Welcome

Sophia Poulos

This is a bumper issue that covers many aspects of software metrics.

We explore the question of why measurement is not an easy task. Stedroy Farrell gives us a few pointers in the right direction.

In best practice, IBM receives the Award for Software Process Achievement. We have included an excerpt from the presentation that won them the award.

Mike Berry considers what a certification in Software Measurement might look like.

And many more interesting articles on measurements for you to enjoy!

Don't forget, feedback on either the contents or the format of the Metrics Matters e-Journal is always welcome.

Please email comments to metricsmatters@asma.org.au.
